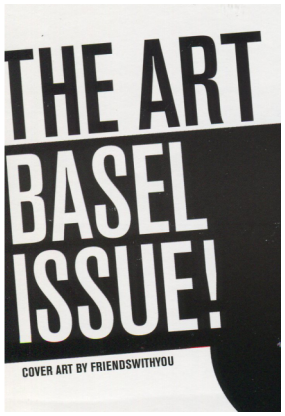
MIAMI

December 2010
By Richard Martin



THE RADAR | NOW!

DARK WASH
Miami, 2010, by Sara Greenberger Rafferty, referencing a character from Dexter, showing at the NADA fair.

FAIR PLAY

Scare Tactics

It's fitting that Brooklyn artist Sara Greenberger Rafferty's favorite Miami-based TV show is Dexter, about a policeman whose side gig is being a serial killer. No, she's not dangerous. But Rafferty, who has made her name with color-saturated, distressed works depicting familiar faces from comedy's past—like Goldie Hawn and Rodney Dangerfield—has something of a split-personality as well: She's also a whimsical sculptor. The 32-year-old will show off both sides of her promising oeuvre during Art Basel week, with new works in the Rachel Uffner Gallery booth at the New Art Dealers Alliance show (Deauville Beach Resort, 6701 Collins Ave., Miami Beach), including her first manipulated photo of a current personality, Dexter co-star Jennifer Carpenter, titled Miami. At nearby Canyon Ranch, she'll show sculptures that she likens to that murderous game, Clue. –R.M.

Rachel Uffner Gallery
170 Suffolk Street
New York, NY 10002

+1 212 274 0064
info@racheluffnergallery.com
racheluffnergallery.com